15. [REDACTED] Following up on my conversation with Bob Dockery, Senate Foreign Relations Committee staff, yesterday I made arrangements for [REDACTED] and someone from this Office to meet with Dockery Thursday, 2:00 p.m., to debrief him on his recent trip to Cuba with Senators Pell and Javits.

16. [REDACTED] Met with Guy McConnell, Senate Appropriations Committee staff, who told me it was looking doubtful that he would be able to make the trip to the Far East later this month as we had planned since his wife will be undergoing some surgery during that period of time. I told McConnell I planned to follow up with Senator Milton Young on his interest in the Council for a Liveable World but McConnell informed me that Young had left for North Dakota and will not return until after the election. We discussed the fact that Young is having a difficult time in his campaign in North Dakota and noted that if he is defeated, Senator Clifford Case will be next in line for a position on the Intelligence Operations Subcommittee since Senator Cotton is retiring at the end of this Congress.

I mentioned to McConnell that Jack Iams, Comptroller, had been interested in having the reduction in the SLUC payment, the crediting of the Air America sale and the addition of a line item on representational expenses included in a letter from the Chairman notifying us of our appropriation. McConnell said he thought this was unnecessary since it was well understood by the Director and the Subcommittee that the Air America proceeds would go into the Agency's account that Congress accepted only 90% of all of the SLUC assessments and he thought it best if the matter of the representation allowance was merely brought up in the course of the Director's next budget presentation.
